Effective management of work health and safety can have a positive effect on people performance as well as bring bottom line benefits. Greencap has extensive experience in working with clients on meeting legislative changes including the harmonised legislative framework enacted in Australia in 2012 and HSW in New Zealand.

The talented and experienced Greencap team offers a range of professional services to help improve the health and safety, performance and efficiency of our clients' organisations.

Greencap services include:

- Strategy development, planning and review
- Audit and performance review
- Management systems development, enhancement and implementation
- Strategic due diligence reviews
- Governance framework review and development
- Safety culture and leadership programs

Health and Safety Management

A health and safety management system provides a structured and systematic approach to successfully manage these issues in any business and is a vital ingredient in meeting officer due diligence requirements.

The Greencap team of highly experienced management consultants work with a broad range of organisations to successfully implement management responses to their environment, health and safety and property risks. Many of our consultants are seasoned safety managers in their own right, having worked within a broad range of industries and understand their clients' needs.

At Greencap, considerable emphasis is placed on integrating environmental, health and safety and property risk management systems within business processes.

The team of highly experienced Greencap consultants use proven assessment models and techniques to design the most appropriate health and safety risk identification, assessment and control strategies for our clients.

Health and Safety Compliance

Risk assessment practice is a fundamental component of workplace health and safety legislation and provides the foundation for establishing a systematic approach to its management. The highly experienced Greencap consultants use proven assessment models and techniques to design the most appropriate health and safety risk identification, assessment and control strategies for our clients.
